Company profile

In 2008, two partners, Thomas Wagner and Anabel Muñoz, founded Wagner Muñoz & Partners, which to this day is a tax consultancy and external public accounting firm. Our goal is to provide assistance to international companies for all fiscal, financial, and administrative issues that arise during their initial period here, and in the management of their foreign subsidiaries in Mexico. Due to the high demand for consulting services in Mexico, WMP Mexico Advisors was founded in 2012 as a Corporate Alliance. This umbrella name now combines WMP Tax & Accounting (formerly Wagner Muñoz & Partners), WMP Legal, WMP Digital and WMP Consulting.

Take advantage of Mexico's potential!

Mexico is a place much sought after by international companies from different sectors, not only because of its low production costs, but due to its strategic geographic location, excellent commercial relations, and emerging economic profile. Needless to say, Mexico offers companies a competitive advantage. In recent years, foreign direct investments have steadily increased; in addition, new reforms have helped pave the successful path that has been established for years to come.

Due to numerous trade agreements, Mexico is considered the gateway to the world's largest free trade zone. Mexico signed an agreement with the United States and Canada on the new Free Trade Agreement USMCA (United States-Mexico-Canada Agreement, formerly NAFTA). In addition to the customs simplification and import regulations with the European Union, Mexico has also formalized numerous trade agreements with more than 50 countries worldwide. The fact that Mexico has a GDP growth of 2.69% on average since 2010 not only shows the constant growth of the market, but also makes it a safe place to invest.

Geographically, Mexico is a bridge between the Atlantic and the Pacific, giving numerous companies access to large and attractive sales markets.

Its proximity to the U.S. market makes the country an important location, especially for export-oriented investors, who can reach the U.S. market through local production in Mexico thanks to low transportation costs.

National legislation also guarantees flexible and high-performance work schedules. The ever-growing educational level of a young Mexican population offers high quality personnel.

Due to the favorable production conditions, an extensive network of German companies already exists, especially in the automotive industry. In recent years, this network has led to the emergence of numerous industrial parks and suppliers offering low logistical costs and high security of supply.
